

May 25, 2011

Flossmoor School District 161 is pleased to announce that Dylan Lunceford, a fourth grade student at Heather Hill School, earned second place for a poster that he created for the EconIllinois poster contest.

Dylan was awarded a certificate, a framed copy of his poster, and a book about money concepts. Dylan, accompanied by his family, was recognized at a pizza party held at Governor's State University by the Illinois Department of Economics.

Dylan also garnered another honor recently. An essay he entered in the InvestWrite Essay Contest, won seventh place among nationwide entries.

He earned the opportunity to enter the contest, sponsored by Northern Illinois University and the Illinois Department of Economics, due to participation in the "Stock Market Game," which requires students to research a parent company of their choice, and evaluate whether buying stock in one of their subsidiaries would be a wise investment.

Dylan will be awarded a certificate, receive a $25 gift certificate, and enjoy a pizza party with his fourth grade classmates.

